

The Mail Ego

By Terrence O'Flaherty

"Everytime I look at television there's another set of amateurish sons and daughters of stars who are being forced upon us. What can we do to discourage more little Lucys, little Desis, little Crosbys, and little Sinatras?"

Nothing. Learn to turn the other ear. They're going to outlive us all.

"Last week I saw Joan Crawford substituting for her sick daughter in a TV soap opera. How much do they pay her for something like that?"

Only her hairdresser knows for sure. She offered to work for nothing. CBS said she would probably get minimum union wages. She said she would use it to pay her hairdresser.

"Someone lopped off the end of 'The Beautiful Phyllis Diller Show' to run a special news flash about the Jacqueline Kennedy wedding. Ditto for the Apollo space report. Ed Sullivan lost part of his show to George Wallace. Ten my favorite show, 'Mission Impossible' gets eliminated entirely by a plug for Hubert Humphrey. Who decides when and where these publicity seekers will strike next?"

Preemptions are up to the network. Sometimes the producers know about it, other times not. In the case of Jacqueline vs. Phyllis it was part of a deal NBC has with Gulf Oil which has agreed in advance to bankroll any late-breaking news story. The politicians pay for their time. Mrs. Onassis and the spacemen got theirs free. All you have to do is marry a rich Greek or go into orbit.

"The movies are getting so mixed up sexually I'm beginning to suspect that some of the situations the actors are enacting so casually on the screen, they must have discovered first hand, no?"

Well, let's just say that they aren't coming as any surprise to them.

"Is Julie Andrews married? I never hear anything about her private life."

That's the way she prefers it. Miss Andrews' first marriage—to British theatrical designer Tony Walton—ended in divorce which becomes official this month. Her second is likely to start immediately with film director Blake Edwards.

"Why hasn't Rodney Harrington been on 'Peyton Place' for so long?"

Actor Ryan O'Neal who portrays him has a nine week leave of absence to co-star in "The Big Bounce" with his wife Leigh-Taylor-Young, also a "Peyton Place" regular.

"The papers said that Bea Benaderet of 'Petticoat Junction' died but didn't say why. What was the cause?"

Lung cancer. Two of the regular sponsors of her show are American Tobacco Co. and Reynolds Tobacco Co.

"All the junk on television is justified by claiming it appeals to a

USC Speech Team Wins Second Place

A debate team from the University of Southern California has earned second place in a speech tournament at Arizona State University.

The team, which includes Marc Ruth of 3509 W 185th St., and Charles McHenry of Santa Ana, won nine of 10 debates to take second place.

Ruth was judged the fourth best speaker in the tournament.

Husband-Wife Writing Team to Speak in Area

Mildred and Gordon Gordon, California's best known husband-and-wife mystery writing team, will be guest speakers at the meeting of Southwest Manuscripters, Friday, Nov. 15, at 8 p.m. in the City Council chambers of the Hermosa Beach City Hall, Valley Drive and Pier Avenue, Hermosa Beach.

The Gordons have had 15 of their novels published and eight made into movies. For their appearance before Southwest Manuscripters, the Gordons prepared a simulated story conference, titled "You Never Hear a Word I Say," designed to demonstrate how collaborating writers develop and share their story material.

Southwest Manuscripters meets the third Friday of each month in the Hermosa Beach City Council chambers. No admission is charged and the public is invited.
